WHAT YOU NEED TO UPDATE US ON

JRI Ltd, as your brokers, are here to guide and assist you. We have the knowledge and experience of what is required by your Insurers so that unnecessary delays and inconvenience is avoided once you have suffered a loss and wish to submit a claim.

Please tell us as soon as possible if there are any important changes to your business. You have an obligation to keep your insurer advised of any changes. We will advise you if you need to seek additional or alternative cover. If you do not inform us, you may not be insured for these changes, or it may affect the current covers you have.

We encourage you to obtain, and regularly update, valuations for the replacement cost of your assets including buildings, plant and equipment so that you are not underinsured.

Some of the things you must tell us about are below (this list is not exhaustive):

Agreements	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Before entering into any agreements, it is important to understand the implication on your insurance arrangements. Please discuss existing or potential agreements with us, we may suggest that you seek legal advice.

CLAIMS GUIDE

Commercial and Personal Lines Claims

If you need to make a claim, please contact our claims handling team.

Most policies are subject to an excess. This is the first amount of the loss which you must pay. For Motor Vehicle policies, the excess is payable regardless of whether you are at fault or not.

The amount of the excess is set by the insurer, or you may have also opted for an additional voluntary excess for a discounted premium. The excesses are detailed in the Summary of Cover documents sent to you when you arranged cover or renewed cover through JRI Limited.

Unless you pay your premiums through premium funders, your insurer may insist that any premiums owing may need to be fully paid to us before any claim can be considered by them.

What you should do

- Make sure everyone is safe
- Notify the police (where required) of burglary and theft losses
- Collect any independent witness details (name, phone number, address)
- Take photos of the scene, or of the loss
- Take any action to reduce damage / loss
- If you have to dispose of damaged goods quickly such as spoiled food, make a list of what you are throwing out. Again, take photos as evidence of the spoiled food.

What you shouldn't do

- Admit fault or liability to another person/third party

Life, Trauma, Disability & Health Claims

If you need to make a claim, please contact our claims handling team who will facilitate the claims process for you and confirm the terms and conditions on your policy that may have an impact on the assessment of the claim.

In all instances a claim form is required to be completed and supporting documents provided.

INFORMATION YOU NEED TO KNOW

Utmost good faith	Contracts of Insurance are based on good faith. This means that you must act towards your insurer with the utmost good faith and your insurer must treat you with good faith.
Duty of disclosure	Before you enter into or renew, extend or vary an insurance contract you have a duty to disclose to the insurer every matter that you know, or could reasonably expect to know and is relevant to the insurer's decision whether to accept the risk of the insurance and, if so, on what terms. You also have an obligation not to provide any incorrect information to your insurance company. This disclosure is required, not only about the insured named in the policy, but also about associated and past businesses and private insurances.
Non-Disclosure	If you do not comply with your duty of disclosure, the insurer may be entitled to reduce its liability in respect of a claim or, may avoid (cancel) the contract of insurance from its inception, renewal or date of alteration.
Obligation to notify	Insurance contracts impose a continuing obligation to notify the insurer of any material changes to the risk.
Policy Documents	It is important you read the policy documents for all terms, conditions, and exclusions of your insurance policy. You should also read your policy conditions so that you are aware of your obligations under the policy. If you don't meet these obligations, it could result in a claim being denied.
